PRIZE FOR LAPORTE VAN SANT.

The Chicago Music News in the issue of Feb. 26 gives praise to the work of LaPorte Van Sant, formerly of this city, but who is now conducting a studio for the study of voice in Kimball hall, Chicago. In speaking of a concert in Oak Park the following comment is made:

"A great amount of interest centered around the performance of Craig's anthem, 'The Pilgrim's Message,' which entitles the services of solo and quartet voices. This work comes from the pen of LaPorte Van Sant, who was the name of John Howard Craig in all his musical writings. Mr. Van Sant, who spent over 15 years in Europe, is purely an American composer and is now one of the well known teachers of voice located in Kimball hall. He has many compositions to his credit, both sacred and secular, which are becoming great favorites with both singers and public. 'The Pilgrim's Message' is being rendered by numerous church and concert quartets with great success, and the style in which Miss Kaufman presented the solo part and with Mrs. Gale, Mr. Kimball and Mr. Dunford sang the quartet portion of the anthem, was a source of much pleasure to the audience and great satisfaction to the composer who was present. The work merits many productions in new surroundings and many repetitions in old in that it is always effective and appropriate for any service and can be had in keys suitable to the needs of any voice or quartet, also a fact worthy of mention is, 'The Pilgrim's Message' can be used for solo purposes alone, the music being so arranged that the services of a quartet can easily be eliminated."

"The singers who made this production possible as well as Mr. Klesner, who played the taxing accompaniment in a masterful style, deserve much praise for their devotion to works from the American composers."

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady of 21 years, and I have been keeping company with a young man of the same age for almost four years. He is a hard working man and has a fairly good trade, but he is quite jealous and cranky because I have been going out with other fellows, even though he gave me a diamond ring. At the time when he gave it to me, almost two years ago, I accepted it as an engagement ring. He has bought me everything in the line of jewelry and has given me money at different times and paid my doctor bills. At another time he gave me money to go on a long vacation. Now I have given him up although he still loves me and wants my company. Since I will have nothing to do with him he has returned the presents which I gave him and he wants his things back, too. As we did not announce our engagement, I told him that he gave me the ring as a Christmas present, but I always wore it as an engagement ring. He told me that he would go to court about it. Now I admire the ring. Can I keep it if it comes to a court decision? Will I have to return the other presents, too?

A DAILY READER.
The fact that you have not kept your promise ought to make you want to return the gifts. You have no right to keep them, especially since he has asked for them. The law will not force you to give them up, but your own sense of honor ought to make you ashamed to keep them.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please give me a recipe for cleaning marabon?

R. E. L.
Heat equal quantities of flour and bran; rub the marabon thoroughly in the mixture, or put all in a clean bag and rub the whole. Shake and if necessary brush with a soft brush.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are sisters of 14 and 16 years of age, and not having anything to do in the evenings we would like to do some work by which we could earn a little money. Will you please advise us what to do? We have not much of an education.

Do plain sewing, mending and darn.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

EVE'S PUDDING.

If you want a good pudding, mind what you're taught; Take eggs, six in number, when bought for a groat; The fruit with which Eve her husband did cozen, Well pared and well chopped, at least half a dozen; Six ounces of bread—let Moll eat the crust, And crumble the rest as fine as the dust; Six ounces of currants from the stem you must sort, Lest you break out your teeth and spoil all the sport; Six ounces of sugar won't make it too sweet; Some salt and some nutmeg will make it complete. Three hours let it boil, without any flutter— But Adam won't like it without wine and butter.

UP-TO-DATE RECIPES.

Frickadellas—Use any leftover cold roast beef or roast lamb, four or five good-sized boiled potatoes, one good-sized onion; all put through meat chopper; mix well with one egg, add one-half teaspoon pepper; make into cakes and fry in deep lard or dripping; makes about ten frickadellas.

Creamed Cauliflower—One head cauliflower; "sack off" sprigs about two inches long from top, carefully wash, put in boiling salted water and cook about twenty minutes until tender, the time depending on size of sprigs. Pour over a white sauce of milk thickened with a little flour.

Delicious Baked Cabbage—Boil a firm white cabbage 15 minutes; change water for more boiling water; when tender, drain, set aside until cool; chop fine, add two beaten eggs, tablespoon butter, pepper, salt, three tablespoons rich cream. Stir well together and bake until brown.

Chocolate Coodles—One cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup melted butter, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon soda, two cups flour, one cup raisins and walnuts chopped, three squares melted chocolate. Drop from spoon. Bake in quick oven.

Cucumber Salad—Twelve cucumbers sliced as for table use, six onions; let each vegetable stand in weak salt water over night, then drain. Take one pint cider vinegar, one cup sugar, one teaspoon ground pepper, one teaspoon tumeric, one teaspoon cinnamon and one teaspoon celery seed; mix all together; let come thoroughly to a boil, and can.
